

Parade of Homes preparation

Gary Emord-Netzley, Messenger-Inquirer, gemord-netzley@messenger-inquirer.com 691-7318

Homes by Benny Clark employee Bill Hayden, 72, of Owensboro uses a level to mark a spot on which to hang a bathroom mirror Monday afternoon while making preparations for the annual Parade of Homes. Hayden is among many local building contractors and subcontractors and their employees who are working to finish model homes by the June 17 open house. The Clark concept home called "What A Woman Wants" is designed by Anne Olsen and located at 4730 Waterwheel in the Tanglewood subdivision. "Our decision makers are women," Clark said. "We cater to people who have already owned three or four homes. They know what they want."